Avant Wellness Systems provided guests with rejuvenating vibration massage therapy and delivered good vibrations to all. M|M is recognized as one of the leaders in gifting suites.

San Clemente, CA (PRWEB) September 30, 2009 -- Avant Wellness Systems took the spotlight with TheraVibe, their latest whole body massage machine at the London Hotel in West Hollywood CA in The Madison & Mulholland Charitable Gifting Suite. The event was held in honor of The 2009 Emmy Awards season. Stars and industry execs previewed Avant's latest in wellness technology, the gentle and efficient TheraVibe.

The 2-day Madison & Mulholland event was geared towards charity and all guests were feeling generous in West Hollywood's new hot spot, the London Hotel. Stars, producers and directors were invited to sample some of the latest fashions, beauty, health and wellness, and luxury brands. Guests created gift bags to raise funds for their favorite charities.

TheraVibe wowed the weary with instant rejuvenation. Even the most physically fit, like actor and dancer Gilles Marini who Dances With the Stars experienced the powers of good vibrations, "We should have one of these one the set. This feels great, I'm so relaxed now."

While enjoying gentle vibrations, The Mentalist red headed beauty Amanda Righetti said she felt like she was "getting a whole new body."

Emmy Award winner Bryan Cranston of Breaking Bad, joked "Where's the orgasm setting?"

Andy Hewitson, President of Avant Wellness Systems, explained how TheraVibe delivers a combined deep tissue, lymphatic and internal organ massage in just 10 minutes. "We've seen studies that demonstrate how one treatment can boost lymph flow to cleanse the body of toxins while increasing energy levels. Using TheraVibe after an intense workout will also prevent muscle soreness and reduce recovery time."

"This season's Madison & Mulholland Charitable Gifting Suite was created to help support stars' favorite charities and our message was about 'good vibrations' for all! We were thrilled to have TheraVibe at our event...one short treatment seemed to keep our guests going...!" said Jane Ubell-Meyer, Founder and CEO of Madison & Mulholland.

In addition to adding to the theme of 'good vibrations' with sample TheraVibe treatments, guests at the M|M suite were gifted: a free trial at the fbe spa (Firm Body Evolution) located in the Wilshire Corridor, a generous discount towards the purchase of a TheraVibe, and balance and power-building EFX bracelets with embedded holograms.

TheraVibe is used mostly by health care practitioners in conjunction with other treatments. These treatments cover the full range of beauty, health and longevity. TheraVibe is ideal for any age and level of health, from professional athletes to seniors. Pets too, benefit from vibration therapy and are comfortable on TheraVibe.
